

PULMONOLOGY

Pulmonology, also known as respiratory medicine, is the medical specialty that deals with diseases and problems of the respiratory system (lungs and airways). A pulmonologist is a doctor who studies, diagnoses, prevents, and treats lung and airway problems.

CONDITIONS TREATED

- Asthma
- Airway Obstruction (Blockage)
- Chronic (Long-Lasting) Cough
- Lung Infections
- Bronchopulmonary Dysplasia
- Cystic Fibrosis
- Sleep Apnea And Other Sleep Problems
- Tuberculosis
- Pulmonary Hypertension (High Blood Pressure In The Arteries Of The Lungs)

SERVICES

- Spirometry
- Pulmonary Function Tests
- Bronchoscopy (Looking Inside The Lungs)
- Imaging - Chest X-Rays, Ultrasounds, and CT Scans
- Positron Emission Tomography (Pet) Scans
- Pulse Oximetry
- Thoracentesis To Remove Air Or Fluid From Around The Lungs

MEDICAL STAFF

Endy A. Dominguez, MD
Pediatric Pulmonologist

