

GASTROENTEROLOGY

Gastroenterology is the medical specialty that treats problems of the digestive system. A gastroenterologist studies, diagnoses, and treats diseases and conditions that affect the mouth, esophagus, stomach, liver, gallbladder, pancreas, and intestines.

CONDITIONS TREATED

- Chronic/Persistent Abdominal Pain
- Chronic Constipation
- Feeding Disorders
- Inflammatory Bowel Disease (IBD)
- Irritable Bowel Syndrome (IBS)
- Celiac Disease
- Liver Inflammation
- Gastroesophageal Reflux Disease
- Intestinal Movement Problems
- Crohn's and Ulcerative Colitis
- Blood in Stool
- Weight Gain or Loss
- Pylori Infection
- Stomach or Duodenal Ulcers
- Allergic Disease of Gastrointestinal Tract
- Care of Feeding/Enteral Tubes
- Hepatitis
- Fatty Liver Disease

SERVICES

- Endoscopy
- Colonoscopy
- Foreign Body Removal
- Feeding Tube Placement
- Breath Hydrogen Testing
- Blood Tests
- Urine Tests

MEDICAL STAFF

Maridine Co, MD

Pediatric Gastroenterologist

Denease Francis, MD

Board Certified

Pediatric Gastroenterology

